

Yale School of Management
Education Leadership Conference

Every year, the Education Leadership Conference hosts hundreds of education professionals in New Haven to debate, discuss and engage on current topics in education reform. Organizations can further engage and recruit participants outside of conference sessions by taking part in the 2024 ELC Networking Expo throughout the conference on Friday, April 19, 2024.

The Expo provides an opportunity for organizations to distribute materials, recruit for open positions, and strategically network with attendees in a dedicated space at the Yale School of Management throughout the conference. Expo space is limited and was sold out in previous years, so be sure to register early!
